

A Step-by-Step Approach

The critical role of needs analysis in teaching Aviation English

Neil Bullock
ICAEA - Workshop
Santa Maria 2016

Your own learners

- What is their role?
- What operational language do they use?
- What are their normal learning objectives?
- What assessment methods do you use?
- What are their learning styles?
- What problems may arise from their L1?
- How aware are they of the language they require?
- How do you conduct the NA for your Ss?

Activity

- In your group you will be given a learner(s) profile and objectives.
- You should work with your group to decide:
 - How to assess current language levels
 - What language functions and skills will you assess
 - What language weaknesses they might have
 - What functional language are they required to use
 - How will you source help either from ELEs and SMEs
 - What kind of materials and method of delivery would you consider.

Objectives

- One or two people from your group will present your findings and your proposal for a needs analysis.
- Then we will discuss as a class all the findings.
